Adam Murray on Which Way L.A. Tonight at 7:00 pm on KCRW (89.9)

Adam Murray, Inner City Law Center's Executive Director will be on this evening's broadcast of Warren Olney's Which Way L.A. to discuss the proposed Community Care Facilities Ordinance. ICLC is helping to lead the fight against the proposed City of Los Angeles ordinance which would eliminate housing for veterans and low-income families, discriminate against people with disabilities, and significantly increase homelessness in Los Angeles. Adam appears along with the ordinance's author, Mitch Englander to debate its merits. Please tune in if you get a chance.

This proposed ordinance could be voted on by City Council as early as next week. Please help us educate people about this ordinance by sharing this with those you think might be interested.

For more information on the ordinance, a video interview with ICLC's Director of Public Policy, Greg Spiegel, appeared in Monday's Huffington Post. You can see the interview here. Greg was also on KPFK radio yesterday morning (here is a link to the segment).

About Inner City Law Center

Inner City Law Center is the preeminent housing and homelessness legal-services organization working on behalf of poor people in Southern California. As the only provider of legal services located on Skid Row in downtown Los Angeles, ICLC combats slum housing throughout Los Angeles and develops strategies to end homelessness.

Each year, ICLC's staff of 40 (including 20 attorneys) provides free, high-quality legal representation to thousands of low-income tenants, working-poor families, immigrants, people who are homeless or disabled, and veterans. Driven by the fundamental principle that every person should always be treated with dignity and respect, ICLC works for long-term, positive, and meaningful change.

To learn more about our homelessness and slum housing work, join us for one of our monthly walking tours of Skid Row.

The tours begin and end at ICLC's offices at 7th and Central and are conducted by Adam Murray, ICLC's Executive Director.
